

International Christian Voice (ICV) celebrated a Christmas Party on the evening of December 16th at the Chef Kausar Autaq Banquet Hall. With ICV's encouragement, the program for the evening was organized by ICV-sponsored refugee families who have recently settled and established themselves in Canada.

The event was well attended and was supported by the Pakistani Canadian Community and ICV-sponsored families.

The action-packed and fun-filled evening was a grand success, with Carol singing, Christmas Nativity Play, Christmas Quiz for the children with prizes and games for everyone to join in and interact with one another. Chef Kausar excelled with tasty snacks and a delicious dinner. Consul General of Pakistan, Khalil Ahmed Bajwa was the chief guest for the evening. Mr. Bajwa was gracious and encouraging in his speech. and joined in solidarity with the Pakistani Christian community and their festive celebration of Christmas.

Mayor Patrick Brown of Brampton and MP Ruby Sahota graced the event with their presence despite their busy schedules and showed their love for the organization. They both praised ICV for the work that it does, offered words of encouragement to the newcomers to Canada and offered Christmas greetings to the Community. ICV and the community are most grateful to them for their long and continuous support. ICV has a warm and affectionate relationship with the families that they have sponsored. to Canada and is proud of the professional manner in which they managed their Christmas celebration. In the short time that they have been here, the newcomers have integrated well into Canada and are living full and free lives while contributing to Canadian society.

ICV is grateful to Jackson Shaukat and Javaid Rahim Bakhsh for their generous support. in making the evening a success.
